Langley House

Langley House is a National Autistic Society accredited service in Somerset. We provide specialist care and support for up to 12 people with autism, a learning disability, and complex needs.

Our charming country home is set within beautiful, spacious grounds. We benefit from residential accommodation in our main house, and opportunities for independent living in our annex and self-contained apartment.

Everyone who lives at Langley House can enjoy spacious communal areas, en-suite bedrooms, and our large private grounds. Bordering the market town of Wiveliscombe, we're close to the Brendon Hills and Exmoor. This offers great opportunities for outdoor activities and trips to the coast!

A place to call home

The National Autistic Society accredits our specialist support. Our 'Advanced' accreditation recognises our commitment to developing our skills and knowledge, so we can support you to live the fulfilling life you deserve.

As well as empowering you to develop daily living skills, we encourage you to pursue meaningful opportunities in the local community. Whether you prefer independent or group activities, our strong relationships within the surrounding community ensures we'll find you an activity that brings you joy!
